COSMIC PORTAL ORACLE GUIDEBOOK

When I decided to leave my job to be a full-time artist, I was inspired to make some small paintings for an affordable art series. The project soon became a mission to paint seventy-eight pieces with which I would then create the Cosmic Portal Oracle deck.

Two weeks after my official last day of work, I lost my footing on an ice patch and landed square on my butt.

Upon impact, I saw a burst of what looked like fireworks and then experienced a flood of pain. I soon learned that I had crushed my L1 vertebrae and would have to be in a brace for at least six weeks.

It may have been the morphine, or maybe the Abraham Hicks videos that ran on constant repeat, but I was determined to make this life event mean something. I'm a pretty spiritual person but in order to ensure I was in the best possible vibration for healing I spent months in intensive ceremony and prayer, all while continuing to paint on small canvases from the comfort of my beloved recliner.

Painting helped keep me focused and busy while aiding my efforts to heal by keeping me aligned with source energy. That energy most certainly flowed into the paintings. As images emerged and the finished paintings filled my wall, they began to activate each other.

All seventy-eight paintings were exhibited at the Hilda Woolnaugh Gallery in Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, Canada. They were hung together in a giant grid and the Cosmic Field was fully activated!

Though that year has not been what I had envisioned, it has been an epic journey. I learned that my body is stronger than I realized and that I can make any situation work to my advantage. I can actually say that I am grateful I was able to check out of life for a few months to dive into source and just create!

The Cosmic Portal Oracle holds so much healing energy in it that I've had people spontaneously cry from relief when pulling a card. And people who read tarot tell me that it is incredibly accurate and easy to use.

I am an intuitive person and I do better in life when I go with the flow, trusting my own instincts to interpret what I am experiencing. In other words, I HATE RULES! And that's been translated into the deck.

Once you take possession of the deck it is yours to use as you like. There is no right way to use the Cosmic Portal Oracle. I pull a card in the morning as part of my daily ritual, but my tarot reader friends use it in more elaborate spreads.

The oracle is comprised of seventy-eight mystical images and accompanying word prompts. This guidebook provides insights to the cards based on my knowledge and research but it's important to remember that my interpretation of a card should never override the messages you receive intuitively. So, disregard the insights if they don't feel right for you, or use them as jumping points for your own deeper dive into the messages you are being given.

I am so grateful you've chosen to spend some time with the Cosmic Portal Oracle deck. I hope it helps you build a bridge to the cosmos and align with your most powerful energy.

Cosmic Portal

Oracle

ABUNDANCE

This card foretells that great abundance is in reach. Assess and highlight what is currently abundant in your life. Then, in the fertile soil of this abundant thinking, plant your seeds for a new crop of awesome to grow.

AMBITION

Ambition is a double-edged sword. It can fill you with fire, but it can also lead you to intense attachment to the goal rather than enjoying the journey. Choose instead to marry your ambition with the love of the path and you will have a much easier and more enjoyable time achieving your dreams.

ANGEL

Someone from the other side is trying to talk to you. It could be a relative or somebody you know or even a distant ancestor. Perhaps it is even someone in the non-physical plane who may have taken an interest in you and desires to share some information. When you feel this kind of Divine presence, sit and open yourself to it and let it come to you. You may hear or see the message. You may feel something unexpected. Take heed and bask in this Divine gift.

CLAIRVOYANCE

Clairvoyance can manifest in any of the senses. You may hear, see, feel, and even smell things. We are receiving transmissions all the time and because we are in physical form, we are always going to translate them through our own filters. It is as though we have a library in our brain that has developed from schooling, life experiences, heritage, and our genetic code. Some people see or hear messages from angels, ghosts, fairies, and spirits because of the type of information they've accumulated over the years. The key is to not get attached to the way you are receiving the information but to reach for the truth of what is being transmitted.

COMMITMENT

Without commitment you are just spinning your wheels. While ambition may fuel the engine, commitment propels you forward. It is key to achieving your goals whether those be in business, health, or relationships. In your daily practice add an energetic commitment to your desired outcomes and then take actions during the day toward your goals to reinforce that commitment.

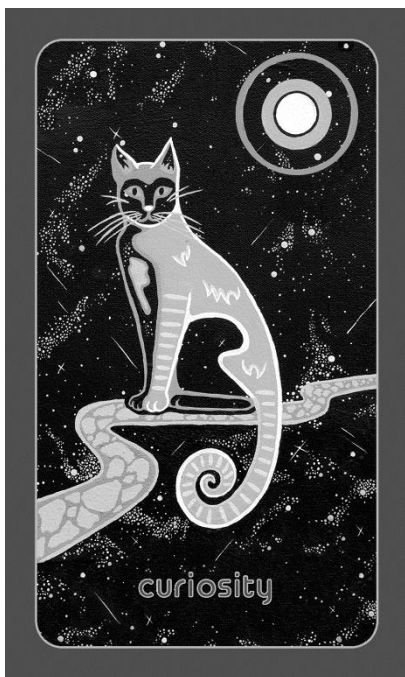

COMMUNICATION

All beings communicate in one way or another. Even under the water where visibility can be difficult, whales connect with one another using their song. It is so easy to misunderstand when we interpret through a fog of preconceived expectations. Be conscious and clear about what you are communicating to others vocally, physically, and energetically. And take care to 'listen' to the messages being communicated to you.

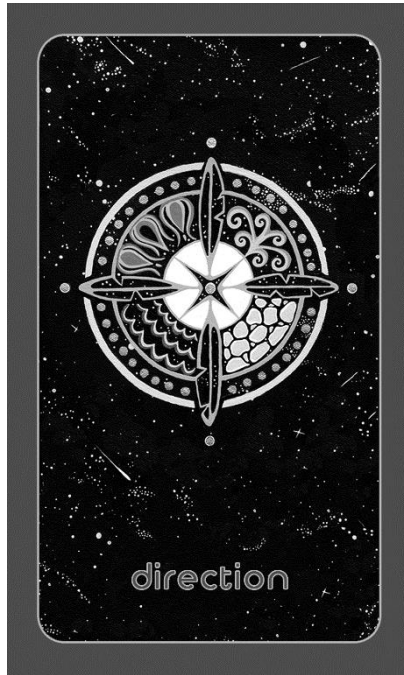

COURAGE

Even on the easiest days, living in this physical realm takes a lot of courage. Life will throw challenges at you without warning, but courage is not always about bravely fighting your way through life. It is time to acknowledge the challenges you have courageously overcome throughout your life. You deserve it! But now is the moment to use some of that courage to live your most delicious life. Step outside of your comfort zone and follow your dreams.

CURIOSITY

If 'curiosity killed the cat' then it has eight more lives to throw caution to the wind! You may be feeling beaten down by life lately. If this is the case, then spend some time investigating 'the why' with gentle curiosity. A life led by asking questions adds a little spice and opens up a world of possibilities.

DIRECTION

Since the world is a sphere, every direction will lead us to our desires. One direction might hold us back with its storms and one might sweep us up on its current toward our goal. Connecting with the elements can help ground you to find the most efficient direction in which to head. But don't worry if you are hit with some rough weather. Important information will be acquired along the way.

DISCIPLINE

The archer would never be able to hit his target without discipline. Daily practice creates muscle memory and the ability to accurately assess target distance and wind speed before they will ever be able to consistently make their goal. You are being called to implement some discipline into your life. Whether you aspire to be an artist or an athlete you can start with five minutes a day and work your way up until you create a routine that you just can't live without

DIVINE MESSAGE

You have an inbox full of messages from the Divine just waiting for you to open. The more you align yourself with the Divine the easier the messages are to hear. Not to worry if alignment comes slowly for you. The Divine is forever patient, and their messages will find you, even in the most fleeting moments of alignment.

EMPATHY

How lucky are we that the magnificent narwhal lives in this physical realm with us? A large tusk-like tooth protruding from their forehead is what differentiates them from other similar sea creatures evoking a sense of mysticism and otherworldliness. It is a mystery what the tooth is actually used for, but some believe that it is a kind of divining rod for sensory input. Open yourself up to receiving the energy that is happening around you and tap into it.

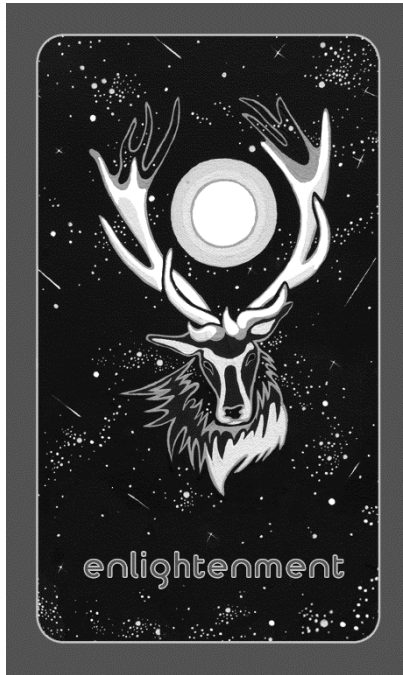

COSMIC PORTAL ORACLE GUIDEBOOK

Sometimes the energy can be so strong that you might mistake it for your own. Being conscious when channeling others' energy will allow you to be more helpful to others and the world while maintaining your own strong energy field.

ENDINGS

Crows have a mystical connection to source energy which allows them to travel in and out of the physical and non-physical realms at will. All endings are transitions and so regardless of the type of ending, it is always going to offer access to source energy. Consider that the coming transition will lead to a light on the other side.

ENLIGHTENMENT

Enlightenment comes from wisdom acquired when connecting to source energy and living in the now. Continue to enjoy the passions and comforts of physical existence but pursue detachment from them. By letting go of your attachments to things and even to your identity your connection to the source will become much clearer.

FAITH

Did you know that dragonflies are some of the most maneuverable and fast-flying insects in the world? Taking a leap of faith requires a belief that you will land safely. When you take that leap don't focus so much on the landing. You got this! Use that time to enjoy your moment in the air. You may just find out that you can actually fly!

FAMILY

Whether it is our blood relatives or a tight friend circle, humans crave family interaction. Reach out to your people. Spend time with them. Open yourself to them. Sing with them. Hold them. Grow with them. Love them. Life will feel fuller for the connection.

FATE

The image on this card is my ancestresses that have woven part of themselves into my DNA. Some people believe that our future is set in stone, woven by the fates. The past contributes to the present, but it does not dictate the future. If you feel like you are living your destiny and you are happy then keep going! You are doing great! But if you have been struggling with why things just aren't going your way then take a look at the beliefs you might have about your 'fate'. Do you believe that this is your lot in life? That you are destined to live in a way that is less than you want? It is time to release these beliefs and create a new story where you are the creator of your own destiny.

FEAR

As a symbol of rebirth and good fortune, bats can see beyond our human abilities. Take a good look at what you are fearing and assess whether that fear is helpful to keep you safe. If it is, then continue on your path of avoidance because we don't want anyone getting hurt! However, if you face your fear and see it through the clear vision of truth, you will likely realize your anxiety is more about fear of the unknown. Try being like the bat and see things as a sign that big changes are coming if you can overcome your fear.

FERTILITY

The hare has long been associated with fertility and birth. But fertility can also describe starting a new business, purchasing a new property, attracting new clients or friends, and even being flooded with great ideas. You are positioned for something new that will take you to the next level of your personal or business growth. If you aren't feeling the growth you desire, take some time to assess how you could cultivate a more fertile environment.

FREEDOM

Freedom can mean different things to different people. One interpretation is to break away from an oppressor or an oppressive situation. But a feeling of freedom can also come by belting out a song at karaoke or snorkeling over a colony of coral. Whether you are trying to free yourself from an outside force or trying to open up to all of the possibilities, it is time to spread your wings and fly!

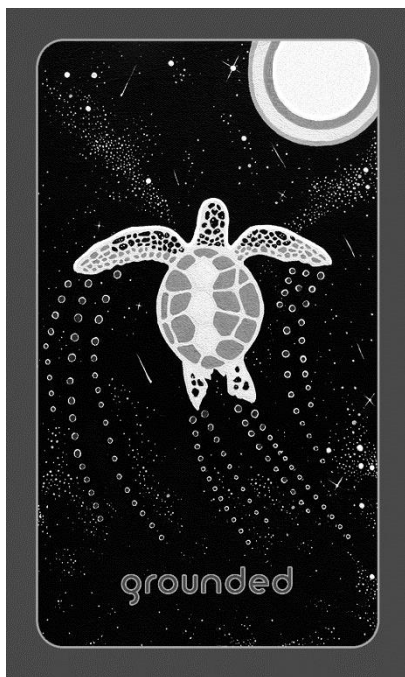

FRIENDSHIP

A field of sunflowers reaching toward the sun is such a beautiful sight. Having friends who are on the same wavelength, blossoming and growing together can be so inspiring and comforting. But sometimes friends can overshadow each other without even knowing it. Aspire to cultivate and develop friendships that shine light on everyone's beauty and growth.

GRATITUDE

The spiral on the moon snail shell represents the cycle of birth, life, and death. It also represents the rotation of the earth around the sun. Though like the moon snail, you may want to seal yourself in your shell for protection, this will only be helpful for so long before you need to get back out in the world and live. Being in the now and finding gratitude even in the moments that have you seeking protection can ease a fearful mind and bring so much comfort to your world.

GROUNDING

Sea turtles begin their lives on the land and then move to the water effortlessly carrying their heavy shells while riding the currents. If you are being tossed around by life's stresses, find some ground to get your bearings. Feel the presence of your body in this physical reality. Embrace the gravity that pulls you down and slows your pace. Some grounding after untethered movement will bring equilibrium to your life.

HARMONY

Dolphins raise families, hunt food, and enjoy their lives in pods. Even as adults, dolphins are perpetually playing together. If there is an imbalance in your life at the moment, instead of thinking your way into harmony, you might want to try playing your way there.

HEALING

We often see seahorses floating vertically in seaweed as if in a state of quiet contemplation. Whether it is physical, mental, or emotional, healing most often takes time. Anchoring yourself in quiet contemplation in or near water will help soothe you during this process.

HIGH VIBRATION

The busy bee uses a variety of vibrations to accomplish goals, such as communicating with each other and deterring predators. But the highest vibration comes when foraging for pollen. These 'floral vibrations' help release the fruit of the flowers they visit. When in pursuit of a goal, live at your highest vibration to reap the rewards of your buzzy efforts.

HUMOR

That old saying 'laughter is the best medicine' has been well proven. Humor shifts moods, adjusts unhealthy mindsets, and even heals the body by offering a different perspective on reality. When life is too serious and puts you in a weird head space, web search 'baby laughing' or 'cat fails' to lighten up your energy. Focusing on joy not only releases happy chemicals in the body, it can lead to solutions by freeing you from the negative head space of a troubling situation.

IMAGINATION

Okay I admit it. I am obsessed with PEI seals! I will sit and watch them for hours. They are such funny creatures. They hang out on outcroppings of rocks soaking up the rays, barking and waving their flippers. Then they slide into the water, playfully popping their heads up here and there. They aren't thinking much about anything, just going with the flow, doing their thing. Spending time with these guys relaxes me and definitely sparks my imagination. To spark your imagination, let loose, be silly, and wave your flippers like no one's watching! You have access to an ocean full of ideas so spend some time letting things swim around your mind. Chase after an interesting thought then pop your head up, get distracted, and chase another one. Unstructured free-floating daydreaming is not only fun but helps to build your creative muscle.

INDEPENDENCE

This mermaid rejects labels. She is not a siren with a hankering to kill men, nor a wimpy princess ready to trade her tail in for any old prince. She is strong-willed and adamant that she will make her own way in this ocean. Independence is a great attribute to have but sometimes you can lose your bearings going it alone. If you are finding yourself in a tailspin not knowing which way is up, send out a distress signal and within minutes you'll have a loving squad of mermaids helping you to right yourself.

Independent does not mean alone!.

INNER CHILD

Our daily lives can be impacted heavily by the emotional state of our inner child. People who have had childhood trauma are often controlled by such damage. If the inner child is not feeling safe and is running the show, it can lead to many undesired outcomes. Other people equate 'adulthood' with shutting down their inner child completely. That ends in overemphasis on responsibilities and the hardening of worldview. This card encourages you to let your inner child

RENÉE LAPRISE

PLAY! Rediscovering that sense of wonder and delight and looking at the world as if for the first time is important to your personal growth.

INNER STRENGTH

The medicines in this image are cedar and sage. If you are Indigenous, you would call this a smudge. If you are non-Indigenous, you would call this a smoke cleanse. Smoke from this type of burning is meant to bring prayers to the Creator/source energy. Participating in a daily ceremony or practice that resonates with you helps to build a bridge to the non-physical realm, developing inner strength and opening you up to source energy in this physical plane.

INSPIRATION

When we are feeling inspired, we become a magnet for lots of cool ideas and exhilarating experiences. This will often lead to feeling even more inspired! Jumpstart things by seeking out something inspiring like going to a gallery, joining a book club, or spending time in nature. Once you get the juices flowing, take note of how things unfold for you.

INSTINCT

Coyotes, like all wild animals, live by instinct. They are hyper-aware of their surroundings at all times so they can react at a moment's notice. This is why wild animals feel more connected to source energy than humans. Because our brains have become so complex, most humans bypass what we call our reptilian brain for thought-out responses to situations. Bypassing this system allows us to push our boundaries and evolve. Humans continue to maintain a connection to our instincts through the gut. Interestingly, this is also where the energy chakra lies. Aligning with your energy center chakra in the gut will help you better hear and interpret the instinctive queues your body is sending you.

INTENTION

Meeting goals, whatever they may be, requires that we live with intention. Expressing intentions clarifies desired outcomes and builds a kind of touchstone to remind us when we veer from our path. Intentions can be set at the beginning of the day, month, year, at the start of a project or relationship, or whenever you feel the need for clarity. Simply open with a morning intention-setting routine. So, pull an oracle card and let it help you set an intention for your day.

INTERNAL POWER

The Internal Power card is about replenishing the energetic fuel that powers us through this physical life. Your tank may be a bit low, so it is time to refuel! Meditate, go for a walk, stay present, hug a tree, stare at the ocean, or anything that opens you up to receive from source energy.

JOURNEY

This life can be exciting. It can also be scary and frustrating! Stop for a minute and look at your feet. Look at where you are actually standing. Use this exercise to remember that your journey is just a sequence of steps, mere moments in time. Goals are great. They give structure and help you focus. But if you can remember that a goal is just the end point of a journey, you will be able to enjoy your life in the present instead of perpetually chasing down the end.

JOY

What's more enjoyable than the image of an otter floating on his back holding a bouquet of flowers in his arms without a care in the world. Where can you add such delights to your own day? Cultivate joy in your life to raise your vibration and just to make you feel good.

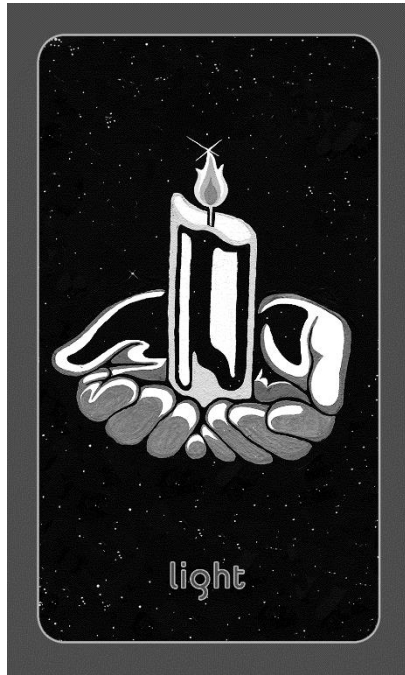

LEADERSHIP

Orcas are considered sacred animals and keepers of the ocean's secrets. They are the most powerful animals in the ocean and are led by a matriarch who teaches the growing calves to communicate and find food. The orca shows that leadership isn't about climbing to the top of the heap to be better than everyone, but it is about caring for a group and promoting their growth and survival. If you are being called to lead at this moment, consider that you are blazing a trail for people behind you to build upon rather than burning bridges as you go.

LIGHT

It takes energy to create light whether it be burning fossil fuels or harnessing the sun's rays. But the truest light comes from inside ourselves. And with a little cultivation, it can give us the most incredible clarity. Take time daily to cultivate your inner light and always honor what it reveals. If the darkness creeps in, remember that even the tiniest spark of light can reveal the reality of the situation.

LOVE

In this painting physical reality is represented with the clouds inside of the 'heart hands' of a non-physical being. Allow the love from the collective consciousness to come to you in the physical reality. If you can allow yourself to be loved from this plane, you've got it made.

LUCK

I have a pond near my house with a family of muskrats. Think beavers, but with ratty tails. They're super cute and living their best lives. For many cultures, the muskrat is the symbol of luck, and I would say for my community, the Muskrat Métis, that is doubly true. I feel lucky every time I see these little guys pop up in the pond! Luck can pop up at any moment and in the most unexpected ways! Keep your eyes and heart open and enjoy the gifts showered upon you.

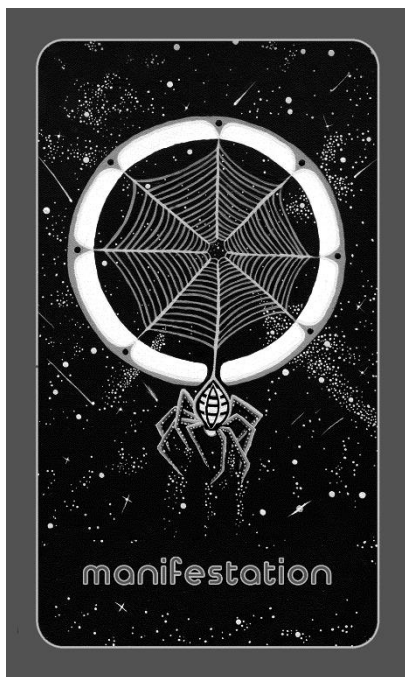

MAGIC

What's more magical than a unicorn and a vortex? Somehow, we've become a society that doesn't believe in things that can't be proven. Yet so many scientific theories are not proven. And don't get me started on religion! With scientists using string theory to explore the potential of other dimensions and with mystics training so many people to leverage the law of attraction it is quite possible that a land of unicorns exists somewhere, don't you think? Just

COSMIC PORTAL ORACLE GUIDEBOOK

For fun, delight in the possibilities that magic offers. When you are having fun, you are in the vicinity of magic's source.

MANIFESTATION

The spider is a symbol of feminine creative energy and the web she spins is not only beautiful but an extremely strong and effective tool for hunting. The spider affixes threads of silk at several points before creating the interior of the web. I see this as a metaphor for different paths taken to achieve this manifestation. Tap into your feminine energy when manifesting. And once you've put it out into the universe let the cosmos spin the path for you.

METAMORPHOSIS

The butterfly starts its life off as a little wormy caterpillar and when it is time, it encases itself in a cocoon to undergo a cellular transformation. The struggle in this cocoon is real! It is almost as if the caterpillar is dying to be reborn. As it begins to outgrow its home, it struggles intensely, strengthening its wings so it can emerge from the cocoon and fly. You may be in a time of metamorphosis. This type of transformation is intense and can be painful. But just hold on a little longer and remember what the end goal is, then in no time you will find yourself turning into a butterfly!

MYSTICISM

The symbols in this deck come from information I received and translated into mystical images. My interpretation of these messages is like my own language. Mystics translate messages from the non-physical realm for others to experience. You may be receiving messages either intellectually, visually, auditorily, or through other senses. Ask for clarity and try different ways to translate. As you engage with the non-physical, your method will become clear to you.

NOURISH

In this image, Mother Nature is holding peas and roses to remind us to nourish ourselves with her bounty. You are being called to nourish your senses. Feed your body nourishing, yummy food. Smell wild roses. Listen to the sounds of ocean waves. Spend time soaking in some beautiful art. Seek out hugs from your favorite person. The more you nourish your senses the more satisfied you will feel.

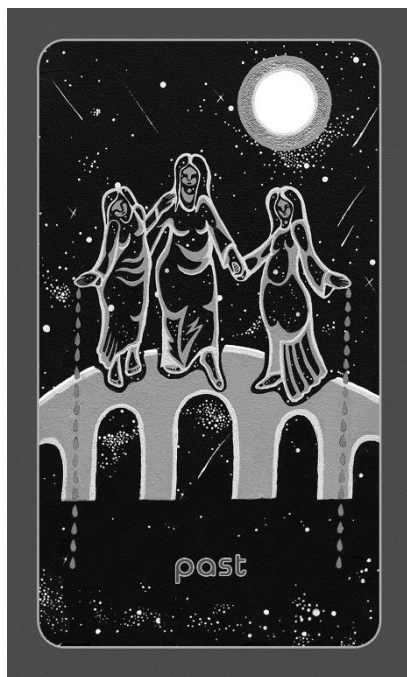

NURTURE

This image holds two meanings. The obvious one is nurturing the next generation, whether your own child or supporting the growth of other children. But it can also mean nurturing ourselves and others physically, mentally and spiritually so that we can truly be healthy. Either you or someone you love requires some of your time for their own wellbeing and you are in the perfect position to be the catalyst for that healing.

PASSION

Passion is such a loaded word, isn't it? You could have passion for a person, for a vocation, or for cheesecake! It is about heightened senses and enjoying that rush that you get when you're at your peak of enjoying something. Fulfilling your senses is a wonderful thing and it can give you a high, but if you allow your senses to drive you, then you could become dependent. It is important not to reinforce passion with connection.

PAST

These are the ancestors offering their blood to create the future, which is you. Reach back and draw to you the lessons of the past. How can you honor the lessons you've brought forward and use the goodness of the past to move ahead in your life?

PATIENCE

Sometimes things just take some time. When we plant a seed, it is going to take some time to germinate and grow. Trust that things are happening and that they will arrive at the time and in the way that they are meant to.

PERSEVERANCE

Commitment to a goal will drive us to persevere despite all obstacles. Remaining nimble and agile will allow us to more easily adjust our course to meet that goal. Perseverance with clear intention and grounding will likely take you to where you want to go. But if you find that things just aren't going your way no matter how hard you try, you may want to consider that the path of least resistance is a better option at this time.

PLAYFULNESS

On PEI, foxes are iconic. They are full of beans and their kits are really playful. There's so much snow here sometimes, they even sleep on rooftops! These high-strung, bouncy, beautiful creatures encourage wildness and play in your daily experiences. So, get out there and find something delightfully delicious to do that fills you with laughter and wonder and takes you out of this world and into source!

POTENTIAL

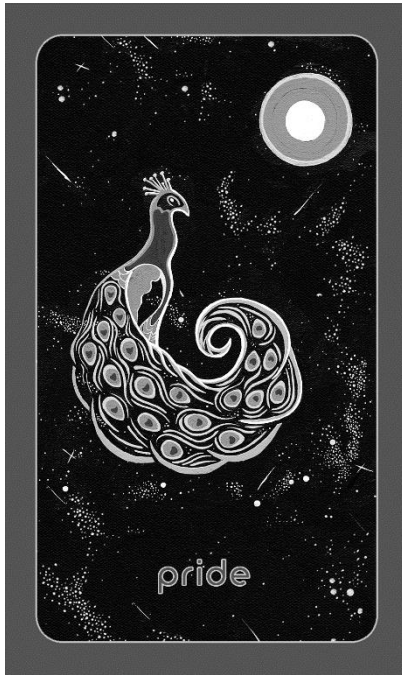

The vortex is an extremely powerful symbol representing the unlimited potential we have access to in the non-physical plane. All of that power is ours to channel into the physical plane. The vortex is challenging you to dive into your unlimited potential on a daily basis to manifest your wildest dreams. Practice makes perfect!

POWER

I personally identify with the witch archetype. Expressing my light and dark sides makes me feel so powerful. I also enjoy the magical bubble that identifying as a witch affords me. No one wants to mess with the mystical powers of the witch! You are a powerful person and it's time to let everyone see it. There are those who look to you for inspiration, and right now you're giving them exactly what they need to see! Draw on your own power to achieve your desires. You have more than enough to carry you through to the end of your present path. However, be sure to take time to replenish yourself along the way!

PRIDE

When we have real pride in ourselves and our talents, others feel confident in our abilities. But pride which relies on feedback from others can lead us down a slippery slope. Take ownership of your awesome, you deserve it! Just be mindful your quest to feed pride isn't overshadowing everything that you do.

PROFOUND CHANGE

When change is on the horizon it causes unease, even if it is leading to a wonderful outcome. Trying to stop a change that is inevitable only prolongs the discomfort. Something big is about to bring change to your life. Run toward it and embrace that change. It will make the transition much smoother.

PROSPERITY

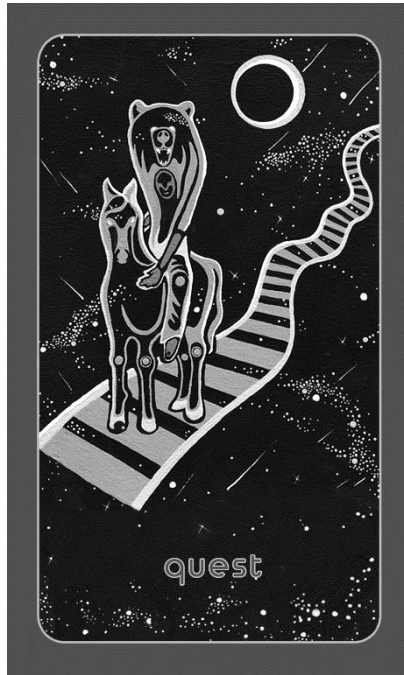

Now this is one lucky frog! The path to prosperity is sometimes obscured by our expectations. One may not notice the beautiful human in frog's clothing. However, there is prosperity in your future, of a kind you may not expect. This could mean more money or an abundance of time, perhaps fame or maybe something much more valuable! Be open to whatever prosperous result is coming and make time to be grateful for it!

PROTECTION

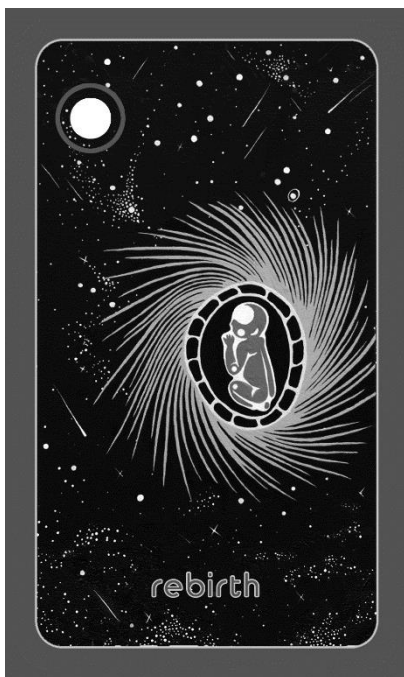

The scorpion only stings when it feels physically threatened or provoked but humans are discouraged from being so reactive. That can leave many feeling unprotected. Hiding in a shell will help in the moment, but it isn't a long-term solution. The most effective way of protecting ourselves physically and emotionally is to set boundaries. With boundaries, we have an invisible cushion that lets us know danger is approaching so we can take pre-emptive actions. Make sure yours are in place and clearly defined so you feel safe to not only interact but continue to grow.

QUEST

You are being called on by Divine. This source quest is meant to nurture you physically, mentally, or spiritually. Follow the road and it will take you exactly where you need to go. Alternatively, you may be resisting a calling that brings fear and excitement. Take time to assess why you are resisting it and what the result could mean for you if you took it on. Focusing on the positive result can nurture you past the fear and into the enthusiasm of the journey.

REBIRTH

There's always a chance for rebirth. We are reborn over and over, not only in this lifetime through change and growth, but we return for new experiences from other lifetimes. We are all tiny seeds of pure potential. However, you need to nourish seeds in order for them to grow. It is up to you which path you want to take to encourage that growth. If you are feeling like you are in limbo right now, you need to jump into your next evolution.

REFLECTION

What is your life reflecting back to you? Do you like what you see? If not, is it in fact, reality? Does it have to be? We all exist in two planes. If you are looking in the mirror and have opinions and judgments, you're being offered a chance to shift your beliefs. We all have a bigger self, much bigger than the tiny reflection in this mirror. It's time to look past the mirror and into the bigger picture. You get to create the image of you!

RELEASE

There is a key to letting go of something that doesn't serve you. And that key is close. Once you uncover and use it, transformation will happen quickly and easily. However, you need to right your energy before looking for the key or you'll struggle to find it. When you do, you'll know exactly what it is and how to use it.

RENEWAL

Spring is a time of awakening and blossoming. This card reminds you that everything happens in a cycle and that this is a time of renewal for you. Consciously release old hurts, pain, and resentment in this phase and you will find growth and expansion comes easily and naturally for you.

SERENDIPITY

The non-physical realm is pure energy at work. Everything that we choose to experience exists right at our fingertips, in the energy field, in the non-physical, in what is called the vortex. Serendipity comes in little cues to remind you that you have access to that potential all the time. You just have to tune in to it and enjoy the results. The more you align to your potential, the more you will notice serendipitous occurrences. This will in turn reinforce your belief in the power of your intentions, so make those connections as often as possible!

SOUL MATE

The quest for our 'soul mate' has become twisted into a hunt for the perfect life partner when in fact we are blessed with many soul mates who we will meet throughout our lifetime. Soul mates act as a mirror. They can create a place of comfort and sometimes challenge. They can hold space for us. They can channel grace to us. When soul mates find each other, it can feel like a completion of a circuit, but it is important to remember that souls aren't shared, they remain intact. Other beings who are most compatible with you on the physical plane will naturally gravitate toward you. Being in alignment with your source energy will make it easier to see the ones who truly resonate with your best self.

SOURCE ENERGY

This card is the heart of the Cosmic Portal Oracle deck. Source energy is pure creation, the energy you access through this deck. It connects us all and calls you to develop your relationship with it. Build a strong bridge to channel source energy through creativity and intention. Take in the best you can and give out the best you can. This is the beginning point for all of life, whether a person, an idea, or an action. Choose to embrace and use it to your advantage.

SPIRITUALITY

You are being called to focus on your third eye chakra. Clearing out that channel will be very beneficial to you at this time. Build practices around that cleansing throughout the day to develop and grow your creative energy. If you are feeling a little lost or disconnected, even simple exercises to return flow to the third eye can bring clarity and renew your connection.

SPIRIT WORLD

The spirit world is the realm of the Divine, the collective consciousness, from which we all are born and to which we all re-emerge. There are spirit energies that can retain some of their individual consciousnesses developed from their time in the physical realm and who can interact with us physical beings if we are ready to receive their messages. You may have asked either consciously or subconsciously to have an interaction with either a specific person who has transitioned or with the collective consciousness. The connection to the spirit world is always active but you need to be open to receiving its transmissions. It is up to you to find a way that helps you align with the energy of the spirit world in order to build a relationship with those who you wish to have relationships with.

STARFIELD

The stars are all yours! Dive into the expanse. Feel all the room you have to dream. You have the universe at your feet.

STRENGTH

Your physical body is a powerful vessel that carries us through our journey in a way that is comfortable and effective. It is time to look at your body and attend to whatever is required to make it as strong as it can be. It is possible you are carrying too much and aren't doing enough to support yourself under that burden.

A MESSAGE FROM RENÉE

You will notice there are two 'Surrender' cards. I decided to leave it that way for this limited-edition deck because both cards are actually about different kinds of surrender.

SURRENDER (JELLYFISH)

The Jellyfish is on a journey. Its survival relies on surrender to all the ebbs and flows of its environment. Surrender is difficult for those who need to feel in control. It is also a struggle for those who don't feel safe. But surrendering to the current will get you where you want to go faster than forcing a path. Releasing the idea of what the path looks like allows you to ride the current and return to the fast track of achieving, experiencing or receiving.

SURRENDER (SWAN)

Open your wings and be ready to receive. There are so many good things coming your way, but you have to open up, surrender control, and trust that what the cosmos is gifting you is what you need for this moment in your life.

TRANSCENDENCE

You are being called to release attachment to the thing that's troubling you. You have an opportunity to evolve past the point where you are no longer tied to an outcome. This is our goal in the physical, to find peace and the quiet of the mind. Being attached through a story or a hurt or a belief is not conducive to success. It is time to put your trust in what you have done and allow the journey to unfold.

TRUTH

It is time to clarify what truth means. Your truth might be something different than somebody else's truth. This card could speak to a universal truth, or it can speak to your own. Take a step back and start looking at what you've been telling yourself is true but may not be any longer. It is very likely your view is skewed according to old beliefs. Your truth and universal truth are not the same thing. It is up to you to decide which one serves you and your higher good.

UNEXPECTED SURPRISE

The mycelium network is very complex and is thought to be Earth's ecosystem communication hub. Humans, like mushrooms, have created complex networks, yet many of us are so fiercely attached to our independence that we become isolated. Connectivity opens us up to unexpected surprises that can deepen our understanding of ourselves and the world (and universe) around us. Be like the mushroom and start building your network!

UNION

All partnerships, whether marriage, friendship, business relationships or other such connections, require trust, open and honest communication, and listening. There is the possibility of a strong and long-lasting union in your immediate situation. It is the right time to commit to what it takes to make that union continue.

VIGILANCE

It is time to preserve your energy. The ideal time to act is coming, but make sure you don't waste the shot you have by acting too soon. Test out the offered paths and scan the environment to assess exactly your plan of action first. And then, when the time is right, strike and stick to the choice you made.

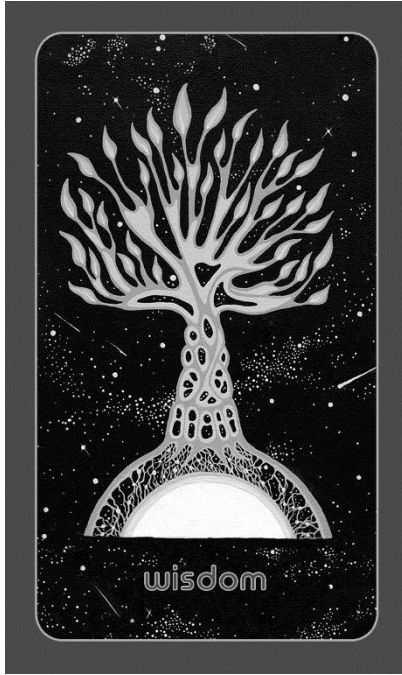

VISION

You're being called to see your life from truth, outside the muddled reality you think is real. There is a vision for the future, of where you want to go or what you want to do, and it is waiting for you to see it clearly. Connect with source energy so that you can see from a much higher and clear perspective. Be careful you're not blocking your vision. The fog of the past can blur the possibilities of the future. Get above what you think you know, so high that you can assess everything from further away. Taking a step back offers that clarity you require.

WISDOM

The 'tree of life' is full of wisdom. Based on a very special tree in the capital city of Prince Edward Island, Canada this tree builds a connection with those who spend time with her. The wisdom of the cosmos can be found by sitting beneath a tree and taking time to listen to what it has to say. Clarity lives in nature. So, get outside, go for a walk, stand bare feet in the grass, or find a tree to share a moment with and reconnect to the beautiful truth of the natural world.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Born and raised in Southern Ontario, Renée has a BFA from the University of Toronto and currently lives and creates in Prince Edward Island, Canada. After years of working to find her voice as an artist, Renée has developed a style that is uniquely hers. The stories told in each painting are inspired by Renée's past and present-day experiences intermingled with nature and local PEI landscapes. Underlying all of her work is an intense interest in the mystical interconnection of the physical and non-physical realms.

ARTIST STATEMENT

My whole life I have tried to fit into the contemporary art scene, tried to reclaim the cultures I was denied, tried to find my 'why' through spiritual practice rooted in dogma. BUT I've come to realize that I am just me, finding my own path, creating my own ceremonies, and translating what I see and hear into visual stories that make sense to me intellectually, emotionally and spiritually. My art is meant to be enjoyed on many levels. We all interpret from our own lens of life experience and if this imagery makes you smile or brings you a sense of peace or triggers transformation, well that's super cool! Life is too short to be stuck in the 'right way' of doing things. I'm so grateful to all of you who resonate with my creative voice and support me 'doing me'. I hope my visual storytelling can inspire you to do the same.
